

مكتبة اللقطات السعودية

The Saudi footage library.

One licence. Forever.

At a price any creator can pay.

What this document is

The single reference for what this business is, who it serves, what it charges, and how it looks and sounds. Everything in it is decided unless marked open. Where a figure appears, its source is named.

The brand in one page

لقطات السعودية، بسعر تقدر عليه، وترخيص ما ينتهي.

Saudi footage, at a price you can afford, with a licence that never expires.

Creative north star

The gallery, not the vendor's table. The page is paper; the film is not. Dark is a property of the frame, never of the document. Authority is earned by withholding, not by decorating.

Who it's for

AUDIENCE	THEIR JOB	WHAT WINS THEM
Arab freelance editors working for Saudi clients	Take the Saudi job without losing money on stock	Price. The album pays for itself on the first job
Saudi agencies & production houses	Get client legal sign-off without a licence problem	The licence. No caps, no expiry, no upgrade

The three voice traits

واثق

Confident. States the number and stops. No hedging, no hype.

صريح

Direct. Says it's AI before anyone has to ask.

قريب

Close. Talks to the editor like a colleague, not a company.

The gap

Everything in this market is either Saudi and expensive, or cheap and not Saudi.

SOURCE	50 CLIPS COSTS	SAUDI DEPTH
Named competitor A	$2,133	Real, permitted
Named competitor B (broadcast)	$30,900	Arab, not Saudi-specific
Named competitor C	$2,950 (SD)	Saudi only
Global subscription libraries	$198–384/yr	Almost none
Us	$129	Saudi only

The square marked “genuinely Saudi and genuinely affordable” is empty. That is the whole business.

The second gap — the buyer nobody serves

Every competitor prices for a Riyadh agency. Not one has a product a freelance editor can buy on a Tuesday afternoon with a card. That buyer exists in the tens of thousands and currently turns Saudi work down.

The business model

DECISION	LOCKED
Market	Saudi Arabia only. Deliberately niche
Unit of sale	Albums only. 15 / 30 / 50 / 70 clips. No single clips
Purchase	One-time. No subscription
Licence	One licence for everyone , including broadcast and OOH
Quality	1080p at launch, generated 4K. Both 16:9 and 9:16
Content	AI-generated, disclosed openly . No religious sites
Creators	Live from day one. Flat 30% commission
Entity & currency	Egyptian entity. Prices in USD
Refunds	None after download. 7 days if undownloaded

Album rules — the quality moat

- One subject. "AlUla — Golden Hour Aerials" ✓ · "Best of Saudi" ✕
- One look. Same grade, same spec, same frame rate — it must cut together untouched
- Minimum 15 clips, cover clip and stills chosen deliberately
- Both orientations delivered — vertical produced by reframing the 4K master, never regenerated

Album coherence is the single biggest lever on refund rate and repeat purchase. A dumping ground is not an album.

Unit economics

What an album costs to make

LINE	CREDITS	NOTE
50 video clips × 72	3,600
~51 stills × 4	204	Each end frame is the next start frame
Reject buffer (+50%)	1,902	The reject rate is real. Budget it
Total per 50-clip album	5,706	≈ $257 at $0.045/credit

Price ladder

ALBUM	CLIPS	COSTS	LAUNCH	FULL	PER CLIP	CLEAR COST AT
Small	15	$77	$39	$99	$2.60	2.0 sales
Medium	30	$154	$79	$199	$2.63	1.9 sales
Large	50	$257	$129	$329	$2.58	2.0 sales
Extended	70	$359	$179	$449	$2.56	2.0 sales

The two-sale rule

Every album clears its production cost on the second sale. Everything after that is close to pure profit, because delivering a file costs almost nothing. This is what protects cash flow while the catalogue is small.

The bundle

CATALOGUE	SUM OF ALBUMS	BUNDLE	SAVING
3	$337	$239	29%
6	$650	$349	46%
10	$1,050	$499	52%
14	$1,450	$649	55%

A fixed bundle price breaks at launch — with three albums, buying separately costs $337, so a $299 bundle saves nothing and reads as dishonest.

One licence. Forever.

This is the argument that wins agencies. Price wins freelancers; the licence wins the people with budgets.

Included

- Social, YouTube, web, apps
- Paid advertising — no impression cap
- Client work — unlimited clients
- Television broadcast
- Cinema and screenings
- Billboards, OOH, outdoor screens
- Events and exhibitions
- Editing, cutting, compositing
- Up to 10 people in the company
- Worldwide · Perpetual

Excluded

- Reselling the clips as stock
- Training AI models
- Editorial or news use — the content is generated and depicts nothing real
- Implying endorsement by a real person or body
- Anything unlawful under Saudi regulation

How this differs from the market

	US	MARKET NORM
Licence term	Perpetual	Expires after 2 years
Impression cap	None	500,000
Production budget cap	None	Capped
Broadcast	Included	Separate, far pricier licence
Seats	Up to 10	One

Licence certificate. Every purchase generates a PDF in the buyer's company name with the order number, date and full clip manifest. Their client's legal team will ask for it — and they will already have it.

Creators

TERM
Creator keeps	70% of every sale
Platform takes	30%, flat, on all content
Exclusivity	Not required
Payout	Monthly · $50 minimum
Content type	Filmed or generated — disclosure mandatory
Location claiming	First come, first served, before production

Creator albums cost nothing to produce and earn 30% forever. They are free catalogue depth — the thing that makes the bundle worth buying and gives a returning customer a reason to come back.

The market

Four companies sell Saudi footage commercially. Every one of them prices for agencies.

PLAYER	SCALE	STANDARD CLIP	BROADCAST
Pan-Arab library	242,000 videos · 51–200 staff	$137–158	$618–711
Saudi library	Founder-led · 2.5M SAR raised	$43	Undisclosed
Saudi-only archive	Not disclosed	$59 (6s, SD)	Undisclosed
Regional library	Not disclosed	Not public	Not public

Never name a competitor in public-facing material

Comparisons stay anonymous — المنصات الأخرى / عند غيرنا. It is legally safer, it denies rivals free publicity, and it means no claim needs defending in court.

What only we can say

#	USP	WHO ELSE HAS IT
1	~$2.60 a clip with full broadcast rights	Nobody — the market charges $618 for the same rights
2	One licence, forever, no caps	Nobody — all rivals tier and cap
3	Albums that cut together	Nobody sells coherent sets
4	No permits — impossible shots, any season, any hour	Nobody. Rivals need site-authority approval
5	Buy once, own forever	Subscriptions rent; the local licence expires
6	16:9 and 9:16 of the same clip	Nobody
7	Priced for the Arab freelancer	Nobody — every rival prices for agencies
8	Honest about AI	Turns the obvious question into the reason for the price

The line that does the most work:

A broadcast-licensed clip costs over $600 elsewhere. Here it costs about $2.60.

Verbal identity

NAME — open decision. Shortlist: نُقُوش Nuqoosh · نَقْشَة Naqsha · لَحْظَة Lahtha · كُؤَة Kuwwa · دُزْوَة Dhurwa · كَشْتَة Kashta. All .sa domains verified free.

Tagline

لقطات السعودية في متناول الجميع

The Kingdom, within reach.

The offer line — use everywhere

ترخيص واحد. للأبد. وبسعر يقدر عليه أي مستقل.

The freelancer line — the strongest sentence we own

الألبوم يدفع ثمن نفسه من أول شغلة سعودية.

The album pays for itself on your first Saudi job.

Signature patterns

Sentence length Short. A full stop instead of a comma wherever possible

Numbers vs metaphor Always the number. $2.60 — never "affordable"

Questions Only as headings, never rhetorically in body copy

Claims per block One. Never stack three benefits in a sentence

No desert clichés in the writing

The footage is desert; the copy doesn't need to be. No رمال ذهبية, سحر الصحراء. The pictures do that job — flat, factual words are what make the pictures look expensive.

Arabic register

Saudi. One register everywhere, no exceptions.

Saudi colloquial with an MSA backbone — colloquial rhythm and vocabulary, full sentences, correct grammar. Not street slang, not corporate Arabic. The test: would a Riyadh creative director say this out loud in a meeting?

✓ We use

تقدر not يمكنك

الحين not حالياً

عندك not لديك

ما فيه not لا يوجد

شغلة not شغلانة

✗ We never use

Egyptian: شغلانة · دلوقتي · عايز · كده · إزاي

Corporate: نسعى · نفخر · رائدة · حلول متكاملة

Hedging: ربما · قد يكون · تقريباً

Empty: جودة عالية · أسعار تنافسية

Never mix dialects on one page

An early draft ran Gulf مو next to Egyptian شغلانة. That reads as two different writers, and for a brand asking agencies to trust it with a broadcast licence, that costs real credibility.

Known trade-off

Standard guidance for a multi-regional Arab audience is MSA with light dialect. Saudi register was chosen deliberately: it buys credibility with the buyers who hold the budgets, and Egyptian readers understand Gulf dialect from media exposure. Accepted, not accidental.

Colour

A warm, low-saturation desert palette. Gold and earth on an off-white paper ground, with the film frames set into it in ink.

The ground ladder

Sections don't sit on one canvas. A band opts into a rung — never by setting a colour directly. Light body, black frame, olive on exactly three surfaces: the collection band, the creator CTA, and the footer.

The letterbox is the recurring geometry: the shape of the product itself. Every thumbnail, hero and empty state is a dark frame with paper around it.

Typography

One Saudi superfamily doing three jobs. Using one cut in another's role wastes the family — that separation is the point of licensing a superfamily.

CUT	JOB	NEVER
Serif Display	Hero and page titles only	At body size — it's drawn for large
Serif Text	Editorial prose, album descriptions, licence text	For UI controls
Sans	Every control, label, table cell	For long-form reading

THE TWO-WEIGHT HEADLINE — one size, two lines, light over bold. Internal hierarchy with no second size, colour or rule. Arabic splits on its comma.

لقطات سعودية،
بجودة سينمائية.

The named rules

The One Voice Rule

Gold means money, the primary action, or the active state — nothing else. Under 15% of any screen.

Audit test:

if two gold things compete for the eye, one is wrong.

The Dark-Is-A-Frame Rule

.dark describes footage, never chrome. The document is paper. Premium comes from the frames being the only dark things on screen.

The Isolated-Latin Rule

Any Latin run inside Arabic — a codec, a price, an order number — is wrapped `.ltr-island` or `.numeric`. Un-isolated, "Rec.709" renders as "709.Rec".

Content & ethics

1 • AI is disclosed, always

Every album carries a visible badge. It appears on the homepage, in the FAQ, on every album page and in the licence. We never imply the footage is filmed. Being caught concealing it would end the business — and disclosed well, it is the reason the price exists.

2 • No religious sites, ever

No Makkah, no Madinah, no mosque interiors. AI depictions of the Two Holy Mosques are religiously and legally sensitive in Saudi Arabia. Not generated, not sold, not shown.

3 • No editorial or news use

The footage depicts nothing real. It cannot be used in journalism, documentary, or any context implying a real event, place or person. Stated in the licence.

4 • No identifiable real people

No real individuals, no implied endorsement.

5 • Saudi content standards

Modest dress, appropriate gender interaction, no alcohol. Cultural QC runs on every shot involving people before it is published. This is not optional.

6 • No competitor is ever named publicly

Comparisons stay anonymous. Real figures are internal only, and every published number must be provable with a dated screenshot.

Forecast

Launch: 2 own albums + 1 creator album. Own production ~2 albums/month at roughly $513/month in credits.

CATALOGUE	LAUNCH	M1	M2	M3
Own albums	2	4	6	8
Creator albums	1	2	4	6
Total	3	6	10	14

SCENARIO	ORDERS M1-M3	GROSS	NET	PROFIT
Slow	37	$7,210	$5,440	~$2,750
Base	77	$14,900	$11,250	~$8,250
Fast	140	$27,225	$20,550	~$17,150

The honest caveat. The unit economics are solid and verified. The order volumes are an assumption, not a forecast. The product will make money if people see it; whether they see it in ninety days is a marketing question, and that part is not in the spreadsheet.
